U. S. to Strike China if Reds Attack Formosa

Dulles Outlines Strategy in Report to Nation

WASHINGTON (AP)—United States forces, backed by a Sunday punch of atomic weapons, stood ready today to hit Communist China if the Reds attack Formosa or other important Allied defense areas in the Far East.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles unfolded this strategy Tuesday night in a nationwide broadcast which served both as a report to the nation and as an extraordinary warning to the Chinese mainland. The warning was prompted by a growing feeling that the Communists really intend to try to conquer Formosa, a vital defense outpost for the United States in the Pacific ocean area.

Dulles was reported convinced that the Reds must be told now that they will run into serious trouble if they try to attack Formosa or commit major aggression elsewhere in Asia.

The answer now will be up to the Reds.

Keeps Reds Guessing
At the same time Dulles kept the Communist Chinese guessing about U. S. intentions to defend Nationalist-held Quemoy and Matsu islands located near the Communist mainland. President Eisenhower, he said, will decide how the present "flexible defense" system will be carried out "in the light of his judgment as to the overall value of certain coastal positions to the defense of Formosa."

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson also made it clear Tuesday that the United States has no fixed policy for the island groups. He told a news conference he doubts the Chinese Communists could successfully attack Formosa and the Pescadores, even if they took Quemoy and the Matsus. He conceded, however, that their loss would make it harder to defend Formosa.

But Wilson also emphasized the final decision is up to Mr. Eisenhower.

Allies Have Power
Dulles' comments avoided a public showdown at this time with Britain.

British Foreign Secretary Sir Anthony Eden had said earlier Tuesday that the Nationalists should give up these islands to the Chinese. He said this action could lead to a cease-fire and eventual admission of Red China to the United Nations.

Dulles suggested that general war, started by Red China, would risk retaliation from three fronts—Southeast Asia, Formosa itself, and the Republic of Korea. The United States has defense treaties with these three areas.

Kiwansians Install Gum Machines For Charity Funds
A display of Ford gum and candy machines was on exhibit at the Kiwanis club last night at a meeting held at the Masonic temple. The club has installed about 30 of these machines in various business places and by the end of the week more than 40 of the machines will be installed.

The Ford representative, Louis J. Quintont of Marion, stated the machines are in use by hundreds of Kiwanis clubs in the United States.

The Kiwanis club's percentage from the gum and candy machines is used for its charitable activities.

Ronnie Doerge, chairman of the Easter Sunrise service plans for the Kiwanis club, stated the service this year will be held at the Starlight Drive-in theatre under the co-sponsorship of the Ministerial association. Complete plans will be announced later.

Call for Special Primary in State's Attorney Election Ruled Invalid

The calling of the special primary to name candidates for state's attorney has been ruled invalid by Attorney General Latham Castle.

Castle said that a call for a special election and a special primary and the fixing of dates should be issued simultaneously and in the case here in Saline county, only a special primary was called.

When Glen O. Jones resigned as state's attorney the first of the year to become state senator, to which post he was elected in November, the Saline County Board of Supervisors named K. C. Ronalds to the county office.

However, since more than one year remained in the term, which expires in December, 1956, it was provided by law that a special election be called.

On Jan. 31 Clerk Don B. Garrison published a notice of special primary election for the office of state's attorney, setting the primary for May 11, 1955, and the filing dates for Feb. 15-22. The final election was not mentioned.

If only one of each party filed, Garrison said at the time, he would waive the primary, which, too, is provided for by law, and pending this determination, would not set a date for the general election.

State's Attorney K. C. Ronalds later wrote Attorney General Castle at Springfield, asking if the county clerk could waive a primary or must one be held; and how much notice of the special election does the county clerk have to give.

The reply stated that the primary could be waived if there were but a candidate from each party, but that the calling of a special primary without calling the special final election was not valid.

Two Candidates Filled
"There can be no special primary unless there has been a call for a special election," Castle's letter said. He quoted the chapters and the paragraphs of the statutes on which the opinion was based.

He pointed out that the call for the special primary should be made at least 100 days prior to the date upon which the primary is to be held and that seven weeks must elapse between the date of the special primary and the date of the special election." Castle said.

During the Feb. 15-22 filing period, one candidate from each party filed. They were John W. Biggers, Harrisburg Republican, and Robert V. Wilson, Eldorado Democrat.

Stratton Denies Reneging on Economic Study

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Gov. William G. Stratton's office today denied the charge of the Illinois House Democratic whip that the governor reneged on a campaign promise to southern Illinois.

Rep. Clyde L. Choate (D-Anna) made the charge before the House Appropriations committee, which approved his bill to appropriate $35,000 for a two-year study of Illinois economic problems.

The bill is aimed principally at investigating economic ills of southern Illinois, where closing of coal mines and completion of atomic energy construction have increased unemployment.

Choate said it was "a matter of public record" that Stratton came out in his 1952 election campaign for such a commission, and he introduced a bill for a $50,000 study in 1953.

He said a compromise was reached with Stratton and the appropriation was cut to $35,000. "The governor promised his support," Choate said. "After it was passed by both houses, the governor vetoed it."

William W. Downey, administration aide to Stratton, said the governor vetoed the 1953 commission bill as a move necessary to balance the budget. Downey said Stratton had made good on his promise of aid to southern Illinois in several ways, including creation of a new state park in the area.

Flood Crest Rolls Toward Cincinnati Area

By United Press

The Ohio river's flood crest rolled towards the heavily populated cities of Cincinnati and Louisville today, leaving thousands of homeless and millions of dollars' damage in its wake.

A cold snap which had slowed the flood waters ended, but Red Cross officials said they did not fear the swollen river would rise with the temperature.

The crest was expected to hit Cincinnati Thursday at 61.5 feet. Officials said 706 families and 116 businesses had been forced to seek higher ground in the area and river front streets were under water.

A 28-foot flood wall protected Louisville, where a 37-foot crest was due Friday.

Most Cities Protected

Flood walls protected most other river front cities. The major exception was at Catlettsburg, Ky., where the Ohio had done its worst damage.

The Red Cross regional disaster headquarters at nearby Ashland, Ky., said early today that Catlettsburg's entire river front section was under water.

Ralph Gentile, in charge of the headquarters, estimated that 200 families—the equivalent of 900 persons—had either moved to higher ground or were "sweating it out" in the second floors of their homes.

The flood waters lapped up to the first floor level in the stricken district, Gentile said. Water in the business district ranged from five to 11 feet and the only way of entering the city of 5,000 was by a circuitous route through the surrounding hills.

Predicts Sharp Drop

Across the river at Ironton, Ohio, 100 families had either moved out or were camping on the second floor. Similar reports came from other small riverside communities, Gentile said. At Little Hanging Rock, Ohio, the entire population of 25 families had either moved out or was besieged by flood waters.

Gentile added, however, that the Ohio flood was not as disastrous as expected. He predicted a sharp drop in the river as the flood crest passed.

Some 2,000 persons had been evacuated by today in Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky, and Indiana. Col. J. L. Persons of the Army engineers at Cincinnati predicted flood damage will total "several million dollars."

The body now lies in state at the Harrisburg funeral home and will be taken to the church one hour prior to the funeral.

Butler Believes Eisenhower Will Not Be Candidate

NEW YORK (AP)—Democrats went ahead today with plans to campaign on the possibility that President Eisenhower will seek re-election even though Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler said he does not believe the President will run.

Butler said Tuesday night his belief that Mr. Eisenhower will not seek a second term was based on talks with political leaders at the grass roots level.

"However, our campaign is not geared to that theory," Butler said. "It will be based on the possibility he will run or will approve of a candidate of his own choosing."

Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, who appeared with Butler at a press conference, said he also thinks Mr. Eisenhower will not be a candidate "because of the age factor, the health factor and family factors."

Senate Committee Finally Approves Nomination of Harlan to Supreme Court

By United Press

The Senate Judiciary Committee today finally approved the nomination of John Marshall Harlan to be a Supreme Court justice.

The nomination has been hanging fire since November when President Eisenhower named him to succeed the late Justice Robert H. Jackson.

Judiciary Chairman Harley M. Kilgore (D-W.Va.) said he hopes the Senate will take up the nomination for final action late this week.

The committee vote was 10-4 with one member, Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) voting "present."

Harlan ran into opposition for the post because he was a member of the Atlantic Union organization and supports the United Nations. He promised to quit the Atlantic Union movement and resign from a citizens committee for the U. N.

Other congressional news: Stocks: The general manager of the world's biggest brokerage house said he doesn't believe a Senate committee investigation of the stock market caused Tuesday's break in securities prices.

Winthrop H. Smith of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Beane added that he doesn't know what caused the decline. He also told senators he doesn't know whether stock prices are too high or too low and doesn't believe anybody else knows.

Security: Wilber M. Brucker, Defense Department general counsel, said there is a "serious gap" in the federal anti-subversive program. He said his department lacks authority to bar subversives from key facilities such as power plants which are not engaged directly in secret defense work. He asked Congress to give it such authority.

Trade: Paul G. Hoffman, former foreign aid chief, asked the Senate to approve President Eisenhower's foreign trade program. He said that "without world trade we face disaster."

Taxes: Senate Democratic leaders hoped to agree today on a compromise bill for cutting income taxes.

A compromise has been sought since Senate Democrats split over the House-approved measure to give everyone a $20 tax cut. This proposal, strongly opposed by the administration, cleared the House despite some Democratic defections but has little chance of doing so in the more narrowly divided Senate.

It was understood the Senate compromise will provide for recovering part of the revenue loss resulting from an income tax reduction. There have been proposals to do this by repealing the Republican-sponsored tax relief provided for stock dividends last year.

The House-approved bill to slash income taxes would cost the treasury about $2,300,000,000 in a full year.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.), meanwhile, assured GOP leaders there will be no filibuster on the tax issue in order to put the administration in a financial squeeze.

Chicago Appeal
Becker bowed out of the race Tuesday night, just 24 hours after a special bar association committee had accused him of "misconduct" as a lawyer.

Becker's withdrawal left the Chicago Democratic organization without a running mate for its candidate for mayor, Richard J. Daley.

Daley is matched against Republican Robert E. Merriam, a fiery anti-crime crusader, in Chicago's toughest fight for the mayoralty post in years. Election day is April 5, less than a month away.

Democratic leaders acted quickly after Becker's withdrawal. A 16-member state-making committee was to meet today and the full Democratic Central Committee was expected formally to name a candidate Thursday.

Whatever the outcome, the Democrats faced the laborious and expensive task of replacing billboards throughout the city which couple Daley and Becker and of whipping up vast new batches of printed matter.

Becker became the first Chicago candidate in 50 years to bow out of a race after a primary when he went before a television audience Tuesday night.

In a strained voice, he said he is forced to devote "every waking moment" to winning his "vindication" against charges that he shared lawyers' fees in 18 zoning cases while serving as an alderman.

The attack against him, Becker charged, is a plot to "discredit" the Democratic Party and its candidates. Since no final decision on his case can be expected until after the election, he said, he had decided to resign rather than hurt Daley's chances.

Five Dead in Portland Fire
PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A fire in the downtown Lind Hotel killed five persons and injured 18 others, including 13 firemen, today.

Three of the injured were reported in critical condition.

The coroner's office identified four of the dead as George Naidenoff, 69; George Nunotami, 79; William Covington, and Robert Edward Roden. A fifth body, not immediately identified, was found later.

The vocal ensemble is composed of Barbara Dunn, Dorothy Haning, Dorothy Schneider, Anne Endsley, Dick Christess, John Baker, Fred Kinnaman, and Dick Britts and will sing "The Fiddler" and "Ay Waukin' O."

Four American Tourists are Among Dead

By United Press

GUADALAJARA, Mexico (AP)—Twenty-six persons including four American tourists were killed on Tuesday when a Mexican airliner crashed into a 9,000-foot peak of the western Sierra Madres and exploded with a blast that set the mountain top afire.

Rescue brigades set out at dawn from the nearby Rancho El Mosco to reach the wreckage of the twin-engine DC-3 airliner a few miles from the village of Talpa de Allende, 100 miles west-southwest of Guadalajara. They were halted on Tuesday night by darkness.

A rancher on horseback, who climbed to the scene late Tuesday, reported all aboard "perished horribly." He was prevented for more than three hours from approaching the area because flaring gasoline touched off a series of brush fires.

The Americans aboard were tentatively identified as Ed Johnson, Dr. Ingler, Dr. Hays and R. S. Hall. All were believed to be from California.

The San Francisco Chronicle said the victims were Ed Johnson, a member of its editorial staff; Dr. Clifford Hays, an Arcadia, Calif., dentist; Dr. Russell Ingle Jr., a Montebello, Calif., dentist; and R. S. Hall, a Whittier, Calif., grocer. Hays, Ingle and Hall had been on a fishing trip, the Chronicle said.

Lost Radio Contact
They boarded the plane at the rustic coastal resort of Puerto Vallarta for the 125-mile flight to Guadalajara.

The plane rose swiftly to clear the mountains which rise abruptly from the coast but crashed 20 minutes later, only 30 miles from the Puerto Villaria airfield.

There was no explanation. Radio contact was lost shortly after take-off.

Those aboard included three crew members, two Mexican infants and "several women."

It was the second air disaster in Mexico within 24 hours but the first for the airline in five years. Jorge Pasquel, Mexican millionaire and former baseball czar, perished with five other persons on Monday night when Pasquel's private plane crashed in the eastern Sierra Madres near the Gulf Coast.

The airliner, carrying 23 passengers and three crewmembers, was of the Mexican Aviation Company CMA, an affiliate of Pan American. It took off from Puerto Vallarta airfield at 2:30 p. m. EST and vanished. Three hours later the smoking wreckage was spotted from the air.

Identification Delayed
Identification of the Americans was delayed because telephones to the hotels in Puerto Vallarta are down at night. A spokesman for the airlines said the "only chance" of identifying them immediately was to check hotels early today.

The wreck brought to 32 the number of persons to die in Mexican plane crashes in 24 hours.

Pasquel and his five passengers were killed when his speedy Lodestar transport crashed and burned in the mountains near Tamuin.

Pasquel, 48, millionaire industrialist, financed the "outlaw" Mexican League raids on organized baseball in 1946. He was an intimate friend of former President Miguel Aleman and pumped millions of dollars into the league, causing many American major leaguers to jump their contracts and accept huge salaries in Mexico. The campaign ended the following year when Mexico's big league failed to draw paying crowds.

Submit Bills for Townships to Float Road Building Bonds
SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Bills to permit Illinois townships to float road construction bonds and pay them off with state gas tax allotments were submitted to the Legislature today with administration backing.

Chief sponsors were Rep. Homer Caton, Stanford, and Merritt J. Little, Aurora, both Republicans. GOP leaders of both houses joined as co-sponsors, and Caton said Gov. William G. Stratton supports the bills.

Caton said the legislation would permit townships to complete blacktop road systems at once, instead of piecemeal.

Limping Goose

by Frank Gruber. Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: The only clue, apparently, in the murder of Jess Carmichael III is a goose bank given to Johnny Fletcher and Sam Cragg by Alice Cummings, who owed money on a cheap fur coat. Alice was Carmichael's girl friend and the murder took place in her apartment. Johnny and Sam, who were broke and reduced to skipping to earn money, found the bank full of old coins. Next Johnny and Sam visit Jess Carmichael, Sr., wealthy chain-grocery owner and father of the murder victim.

XI

Carmichael shook his head and his eyes went to the young man by the book-shelves. "James, who would perpetrate a joke at a time like this?"

"I couldn't say, Uncle," replied the young man. "It's most certainly in bad taste."

He came forward. "I say, old boy, don't you know that Mr. Carmichael's son—my cousin, Jess—was, ah..."

"Of course," I know it. That's why I'm here."

Johnny looked past Carmichael and saw a newspaper on a desk. He crossed to the desk and picked up the newspaper. "My name's in here," he said. "Ah yes, here..."

He read, "...The two men, John Fletcher and Sam Cragg, were described by Miss Cummings—"

"Cummings!" cried Jess Carmichael. "Don't mention that woman's name in this house." He stabbed a well-manicured forefinger at Johnny. "You're the man the police suspect of killing my son."

"No," said Johnny. "Lieutenant Madigan's already cleared me."

"Who's Lieutenant Madigan?"

"Homicide, in charge of the investigation. A very good man. I've helped him now and then."

"Oh, say, now," expostulated the young man. "You're spreading it on a bit thick, aren't you?"

Johnny regarded him sharply. "I don't believe I got your name."

"I'm James Sutton. I'm Mr. Carmichael's nephew."

"A prime suspect, too," declared Johnny. "The nephew's always the chief suspect."

"I think," said Jess Carmichael, "I've had about all of this I can take. Mr. Fletcher, I've had a difficult day and tomorrow morning I must talk to the police."

"Mr. Carmichael, I'll put it to you bluntly," Johnny said. "Do you want to, ah, apprehend the murderer of your son?"

"Of course I do," snapped Carmichael, a glint coming into his eyes. "and he will be apprehended. If it takes every dollar—"

"It won't," Johnny said. "It won't cost you much at all. For a modest fee, I'll run him down."

"The police are quite capable of doing that," Carmichael said coldly. "And now I must bid you good evening."

"Very well, sir, but if you should change your mind, I'd like to give you my address..."

"That won't be necessary."

Johnny hesitated. He looked at Sam Cragg, who was regarding him anxiously.

"Very well, Mr. Carmichael," "I'll go with you," James Sutton offered. "Good night, Uncle Jess."

As they stepped out a convertible squealed to a stop beside the limousine that had brought Johnny and Sam out to Manhasset.

A girl sprang out and came running toward the door. "Jim," she cried, "how is he?"

"Taking it pretty badly, Hertha," Sutton replied.

"I would have come sooner, but then you know..." She stopped and looked sharply at Johnny and Sam.

"Fletcher's my name," Johnny offered. "This is my friend, Sam Cragg."

The girl looked at Johnny, puzzled. "I don't believe I ever met you."

"That's my loss," Johnny said. "I'd be glad to call on you tomorrow."

"Go in and talk to the old man," Sutton said quickly. "He needs someone to cheer him up." He took Johnny's elbow. "D'you mind giving me a lift into town, old boy?"

"All right," Johnny said, "as long as you're twisting my arm. I'm going to the Barbizon-Waldorf unless I can drop you somewhere along the way."

"The hotel's fine," Sutton said easily.

The car started down the winding driveway. Johnny leaned back. "Hertha," he said musingly. "Fancy name. Wouldn't go well with Smith, though."

"You're fishing again," Sutton accused. "All right, I'll bite; her last name's Colston. Young Jess's fiancée."

"I thought a little lady named Alice Cummings—"

Miss Cummings' Sutton said firmly, "was not his fiancée."

"She hooked him for a mink coat," said Sam.

Sutton shrugged. "What's a mink coat?"

"Miss Cummings bought a $69 special about four years ago," Johnny explained. "The bill was so small it slipped her mind."

"Well," said James Sutton, "that's interesting. But how do you know all this about Miss Cummings?"

"That," said Johnny, "is how we got into this. We skip-traced her and collected the dough."

"I'm interested in skip tracers," Sutton said. "Just how did you do it?"

"There are tricks to all trades," Johnny gave Sutton a quick side-glance. "I imagine the grocery business has its tricks, too."

"Tut, tut, no more fishing," Sutton said.

New Revenue Article Plans Offered in Senate

SPRINGFIELD — Senate approval of a new revenue article in the Illinois constitution was assured today—if every sponsor of the proposal casts his vote in favor of it.

Two identical plans to rewrite the section to permit classification of property for tax purposes, while barring a graduated income tax, were introduced in the Senate Tuesday.

One was sponsored by six Democrats, the other by all 32 Republican members. For approval, the measure needs 34 favorable votes in the Senate. It has 38 sponsors.

It is likely, however, that some of the sponsors may change their views when the chips are down and not vote for the plan.

Identical plans for revamping the Illinois court system through a constitutional amendment also were

WASHINGTON — The House Rules Committee Tuesday voted for a new "fair play" code for House committees, including a ban on one-man investigations, but it turned down a move to permit televising of House hearings.

The new rules would allow all accused persons to defend themselves against any testimony tending to "defame, degrade or incriminate."

A bar was proposed against issuance of subpoenas except by consent of a full committee or subcommittee. This would prevent the much-criticized "blank-check" subpoena power enjoyed in the past by some chairmen of councils.

Daniels, former DuPage County state's attorney, was fired by Stratton from the youth commission post because Daniels engineered a request for an attorney general's opinion on a gambling device.

William W. Downey, aide to Stratton, said the governor has been considering naming Daniels as a Commerce Commission hearing officer "for some time."

Downey said Daniels is not now on the state payroll.

To The Voters of Harrisburg

For reasons of health, it is necessary that I withdraw from the race for Mayor of Harrisburg, subject to the General Election of April 19. Although I am one of the nominees for the office, and my name will appear on the ballot, I request that voters ignore my candidacy.

As many of you may know, I have been a patient in the Lightner hospital and subsequently in a stage of convalescence for the past four weeks. My physician advises me it would be detrimental to my health to make a campaign for the office, and it would be more hazardous for me to attempt to fulfill the duties of the office should I be elected.

I sincerely appreciate the vote which nominated me to the office and the support which friends and associates gave during the campaign—at which time I was unable to make an active campaign in my own behalf.

Yours for a bigger and greater Harrisburg.

WASHINGTON — The House Rules Committee Tuesday voted for a new "fair play" code for House committees, including a ban on one-man investigations, but it turned down a move to permit televising of House hearings.

The new rules would allow all accused persons to defend themselves against any testimony tending to "defame, degrade or incriminate."

A bar was proposed against issuance of subpoenas except by consent of a full committee or subcommittee. This would prevent the much-criticized "blank-check" subpoena power enjoyed in the past by some chairmen of councils.

McKinley Junior B.W.C. Has Home Missions Program

Members of the Junior Business Women's circle of the McKinley Avenue Baptist church met Tuesday evening to observe the week of prayer for home missions and to present their Annie Armstrong offerings.

Mrs. Tom Fife entertained the group at her home on South Granger street.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Miss Norma Cannon, and the evening's program, "Trophies for the King," was presented by Miss Jewell Agin, Mrs. Ken Oment and Miss Jane Cannon.

The lesson stated that all over the Southern Baptist convention territory and in Alaska, Cuba, Panama and the Canal Zone people are being won to Christ through efforts of our home missionaries. Members were reminded that through their gifts and prayers they could have a share in the winning of such trophies for the King.

Mrs. Henry Short, adviser, presented the evening's devotion and the meeting was dismissed with prayer by Mrs. Fife.

During a social hour which followed refreshments were served by the hostess to those mentioned and Mrs. John W. Pool and Mrs. Doyle Hedger.

First Christian Church Ladies Have Hobo Convention

The Fellowship hall of the First Christian church was the scene of the Grand Order of Hoboes Monday evening. This was a costume party given for the ladies of the church and sponsored by the Christian Women's Fellowship.

The decorations were in keeping with the environment of hoboes with an open fire, cans strewn about, and clothes hanging on a line. The guests had to walk a "railroad track" before attending the opening session of the convention where they were welcomed by Mrs. Gladys Parker.

Mrs. Ruth Thompson, Miss Bess Pemberton and Mrs. Glen Daugherty were in charge of the entertainment which was furnished by Miss Elizabeth Klein and Phillip Stafford who played the accordion. Mrs. Nancy Harris won the costume prize, and other prizes were awarded to Mrs. Zola Sloan and Mrs. Roy Adams.

Refreshments were served in paper bags with newspaper napkins and coffee by Mrs. Frank Gray, Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Carl Gray. Prizes were made by Mrs. Freelan Smith and Mrs. Harold Boatright.

Attending were Mrs. Fern Johnson, Mrs. Stanley Wilson, Mrs. Ruth Stinson, Mrs. Louise McNab, Mrs. Zola Sloan, Mrs. Joe Harris, Mrs. Cecil Harris, Mrs. Emma Sleet, Mrs. Leona Meler, Mrs. Alvey Hawkins, Mrs. C. F. Churchwell, Mrs. Ben Williams, Mrs. Paul Roberson, Miss Frances Adams, Mrs. Carl Corrie, Miss Bess Pemberton, Mrs. Carrie Young, Mrs. Roy Adams, Mrs. Frank Gray, Mrs. Harold Boatright, Mrs. Gladys Barker, Mrs. Glen Daugherty, Mrs. Ruth Thompson, Mrs. Freelan Smith and guests, Doris Jean Boatright, Elizabeth Klein and Phillip Stafford.

Mrs. Frank Gray Hostess To Christian Fellowship

The Christian Women's Fellowship of the First Christian church met at the home of Mrs. Frank Gray, 601 North Webster.

The meeting was opened with Mrs. Roy Adams reading a nurse's song followed with prayer.

Mrs. Adams also presided over the business meeting during which 17 books were reported read for the month.

The members participated in World Call Quiz, and the devotion was given by Mrs. Freelan Smith who took her scripture from Matt. 5:12. Mrs. Myrtle Adams presented the missionary lesson on "Ambassadors of Health." Those participating were Mrs. Henry Lightfoot, Mrs. Freelan Smith, Mrs. Harold Boatright and Mrs. Gladys Barker.

After the meeting a geography contest was held. Others present not mentioned were Mrs. Leta Hamby, Mrs. Curtis Small, Mrs. Carrie Young, Mrs. Glen Daugherty and the hostess, Mrs. Frank Gray.

McKinley Baptist W. M. U. Has Missionary Classes

Ninety-one members of the W. M. U. and Auxiliaries of the McKinley Avenue Baptist church met Monday evening at the church for a mission study class.

A dinner was held at 6 p. m. in the lower rooms of the church which were decorated in keeping with the missionary books studied by the different departments.

At the close of the meal a film entitled "Nuggets of the North" was shown by Bob Hicks with Mrs. Louise LaBaw as narrator.

The adult department was taught the book "Under the North Star" by Mrs. J. D. McCarty and Mrs. Floyd Lacy, and the young people were taught "Light in Yumuri" by Laura Raley and Juanita Pickford.

Mass Evacuation Plans Attacked By Sen. Gore

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) said today Civil Defense is setting up an "utterly impossible task" in proposing to evacuate all the nation's major cities in event of enemy air attack.

Gore, a member of the joint congressional Atomic Energy Committee, sharply questioned the practicality of the administration's mass evacuation plan.

"I wonder if this plan is any more valid than the advice of just a few months ago to build shelters and dig in," Gore said in an interview.

Civil Defense Director Val Peterson warned an Armed Services Subcommittee Tuesday that in event of enemy attack, all 92 critical target cities in the nation will have to be evacuated.

Peterson said, there is no way of telling which cities the enemy bombers will hit, and selective evacuation of cities is impossible.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), continued its investigation today of Civil Defense preparations with emphasis on local planning. Called before the subcommittee were Mayors Frank Zeidler of Milwaukee, Wis., and Joseph S. Clark of Philadelphia.

Looking At Sports

By ED KIRKPATRICK

The Marion sectional tournament opens tonight with Bob Lewis' Anna Jonesboro team meeting darkhorse candidate, Brookport, regional winner at Metropolis. Anna-Jonesboro has gained numerous supporters as the season progressed, and now, we note, that an AP poll lists the Anna club a slight favorite over Herrin to cop the sectional. So, if you like favorites, stick with Anna.

If you like big name schools, climb on the Herrin bandwagon, for the Tigers are members of the tough South Seven conference and play high calibre competition all season long. If you like records, you'll not find a better one than Shawneetown's, so put your faith in the Indians. If you follow the dark-horses, you're riding with Brookport.

Barney Genisio's Shawneetown team, only unbeaten quintet left in the state, will be up against a top foe in Herrin. The Tigers have two capable guards in Gray and Jones, but their pride and joy is forward Bill Lawrence, who scored 272 points in 12 games against South Seven conference competition. A 6-2 lad, Lawrence is tabbed one of the best in Little Egypt. An excellent shot, he often comes up with a basket just when it appears impossible for him to get a shot away.

Tom Thomas is the big boy on the Herrin five. Thomas stands 6-6 and is a power on rebounding. Teaming with Lawrence at forward is Charles Hamilton, another six-footer, who is the squad's second best point producer. The team also boasts a couple of fine reserves in Jefferson and McPhearsen.

Most of Herrin's losses during the past season have been by narrow margins. The Tigers have dropped two overtime games by 60-58, fell to Centuria, 66-54 and 70-61, to Mt. Vernon 58-50 and 56-54 in overtime, to Pinckneyville, 42-41 and 22-18, to Marion, 65-59, and to Johnston City, 53-52. In addition, Herrin was forced to forfeit four other games because of the ineligibility of a reserve, discovered late in the season.

Since their conquest of the Norris City regional, mighty little Shawneetown has picked up many backers throughout southeastern Illinois. The Indians, to justify this new support, will need to be at their very best, both offensively and defensively, against Herrin. There can be no halfway effort now.

Should Anna-Jonesboro and Shawneetown clash in the finals of the Marion sectional, an interesting situation would develop, for Shawneetown was coached two years ago by Bob Lewis, present Anna mentor. And two of the boys that played first string on Lewis' conference-winning Shawneetown club were Garrison Newsom and Bobby Spottsville.

TEBBETTS ANNOUNCES REDS' BATTING ORDER

TAMPA, Fla. AP.—Manager Birdie Tebbetts announced today a batting order which the Cincinnati Redlegs expect to be the most explosive in the club's history.

BRADENTON, Fla. AP.—Third baseman Eddie Mathews' error on a potential double play grounder, paved the way for two unearned runs as the scrubs beat the regulars, 3-2, in Tuesday's Milwaukee Brave camp game.

La Salle, San Francisco Show Power in NCAA

By United Press

Defending champion La Salle and national champion San Francisco both displayed stunning scoring power as they led eight preliminary round winners today into berths in the first round of the NCAA basketball tournament.

Advancing along with the two hottest early favorites for the title by victories at four sites Tuesday night were Canisius, Villanova, Marquette, Penn State, Bradley, and Seattle.

But La Salle, smashing the tournament's single-game record by thrashing West Virginia, 95-61, and San Francisco, almost matching that total by walloping West Texas State, 89-66, were the most impressive winners.

Besides La Salle, other victors in the preliminary round triple-header at New York's Madison Square Garden were Canisius by 73-60 over Williams and Villanova by 74-73 over Duke. At Lexington, Ky., Penn State topped Memphis State, 59-55, and Marquette was forced into overtime to beat Miami of Ohio, 90-79. In a single game at El Reno, Okla., Bradley ousted Oklahoma City, 69-65. At San Francisco's Cow Palace, San Francisco was joined in victory by Seattle, 80-63, over Idaho State.

Friday's Regionals Set

The winners move on to four new sites for the first round of regional competition Friday night, as follows:

At Philadelphia
Canisius vs. Villanova.
La Salle vs. winner of tonight's Columbia-Princeton playoff at New Brunswick, N. J., for Ivy League championship.

At Evanston, Ill.
Marquette vs. Kentucky.
Penn State vs. Iowa.

At Manhattan, Kans.
Bradley vs. SMU.
Colorado vs. Tulsa.

At Corvallis, Ore.
Seattle vs. Oregon State.
San Francisco vs. Utah.

Friday night winners will meet Saturday night at the same sites. The regional winners then will go to Kansas City where, on Friday, March 18, the Philadelphia and Evanston winners will meet for the eastern championship and the Manhattan and Corvallis winners will meet for the western championship. Eastern and western champs will meet the following night for the national championship.

Sectionals Get Underway Tonight as Teams Launch Bids for Play in Sweet 16

SPRINGFIELD AP.—Fans will jam 15 gyms across downstate Illinois tonight when half of the 60 high school basketball sectional tournament teams launch bids for Sweet Sixteen berths.

The other 30 teams will tangle Thursday night. Victors tonight and Thursday night will meet for sectional titles Friday night.

Sectional tourney winners plus the Chicago Public League champion — also being determined in semifinals there — will make up the field for the state championship next week at Champaign.

Seven teams that got to the prep classic last year are still in the running, including 1954 titlist

GAMES BEGIN AT 8 P. M. AT MARION SECTIONAL: NO RESERVED SEATS

Tip off time for games in the Marion sectional is 8 p. m., it has been announced by "Cuss" Wilson, Marion high school athletic director.

Admission is 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for students. There are no reserved seats.

The Marion gym has a seating capacity of approximately 3,000.

Brookport and Anna-Jonesboro will square off against Arlington Heights (6-17) on the latter team's floor. Arlington Heights topped mighty Barrington to get into the sectional.

The improving Lincoln Railsplitters (15-11) and Havana's Ducks (24-4) clash in the curtain-raiser at Springfield, the winner meeting either Hillsboro or Springfield Lanphier for the title Friday.

At Paris, two dark horse possibilities, Effingham St. Anthony (24-4) and Lawrenceville (22-7), get the tournament opening chores. St. Anthony sports a 15-game winning streak.

Galesburg, favored to return to the Sweet Sixteen for the first time since 1947, will seek to eliminate Bushnell-Prairie City in the starter tonight at Galesburg.

Mount Vernon. But only three of the seven — Moline, Princeton and Quincy — are standout favorites to take sectional titles again.

Has Tough Sledding

Mount Vernon (23-3) finds itself in one of the hottest spots in the state, opening against Centuria at Salem. The Centuria Graphears (28-2) are one of the fastest and most potent quintets around and are picked by many as eventual 1955 champs.

Even if the Rams should upset Bobby Joe Mason and crew, they probably would run into Pinckneyville (28-2), which has come up with another poised, deliberate club under the tutelage of Merrill (Duster) Thomas. Pinckneyville opens against West Frankfort (15-13) in tonight's game.

Rockford East (11-13), a Sweet Sixteen entry last year, is given least chance of survival among those seeking to repeat. The E-Rabs open action at Rockford against Sycamore (18-1) and are slight favorites, but will be definite underdogs if Rockford West (22-1) meets them after getting by Rochelle (18-9). West and Moline are rated as northern Illinois' strongest.

Moline (24-2) is favored to oust Kewanee (16-12) at Rock Island tonight and advance to the sectional finals against either Fulton or Sterling.

Play Rubber Match

One of the best duels on tonight's card should be at Pekin, where Big 12 co-champ Pekin (23-3) tangles with Canton (17-9). These two teams battled to two close decisions in the regular season, Pekin pocketing one by four points and Canton the other by one marker.

Potomac (28-5) and Monticello (19-5), teams that have never played in the state finals at Champaign, clash at Danville tonight. There is no clearcut favorite here, for the other two teams are "unknowns" too—Rantoul and Georgetown.

At Decatur, Brownstown will rate as a definite underdog against the host squad, one of central Illinois' best. Brownstown has racked up a good 20-6 record but hasn't played the same caliber of foe as

Dinner for Carrier Mills Grade Five And Cheer Leaders

Members of the basketball team and cheer leading squad of the Carrier Mills grade school were guests at a buffet dinner and party held in the school gymnasium Monday evening.

Tables, decorated in the school colors of red and white, were set on the gym floor and the festivities were enjoyed by candle light.

Preparations for the affair were made by the mothers of the team players and cheer leaders.

Entertainment by the grade school pupils included a vocal duet by Katherine Mathis and Jarrell Chaney, vocal solos by Katherine Mathis and Marigene Miller, and a piano solo by Candace Malone, who also accompanied the vocalists.

Len Turner was selected as the team's most valuable player. Eighth grade letters were presented to Bill Nolen, Len Turner, John Noonan, Chuck Reeder, James Elms, James McCoy, Ron Shaw, Herman Rice, Don Smith and Jerry Randolph.

Receiving seventh grade letters were Mike Chaney, Larry VanHoy, Walter Holmes, Charles Williams, Larry Field, Larry Prather, Lee Lyle, Terry Pyle, Bruce Miller and Butch Prather and manager Kay Don Russell. Letters were presented by Coach Harry Yocum.

Coal Industry Asks Limit On Oil Imports

WASHINGTON (AP)—Coal industry spokesmen urged the Senate today to change President Eisenhower's foreign trade bill to restrict oil imports.

The coal industry spokesman appeared before the Senate finance committee, which is conducting hearings on the House-approved administration bill to extend the reciprocal trade law with additional tariff-cutting powers for the President.

Daniel T. Buckley, Arlington, Mass., representing the National Coal Assn. and a number of other coal organizations, urged an amendment to limit imports of oil and residual fuel oil to 10 per cent of the domestic demand in the corresponding quarter of the previous year.

Buckley said imports of residual fuel oil have had "serious competitive effects" on the soft coal industry since 1949.

He also testified that recommendations of President Eisenhower's fuel committee would not provide adequate protection for the coal industry.

The 10 per cent oil import limitation was also endorsed by Frank W. Ernest Jr., president of the Anthracite Institute; Walter J. Tuohy, president of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad; and W. D. Johnson, vice president of the Order of Railway Conductors, who also represented the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

'Use' Tax Bill Proposed to Close Loophole

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—A bill to make the Illinois sales tax apply to purchases made by Illinoisans in other states for use here was introduced in the Legislature today by 34 state representatives.

Rep. Ralph Stephenson (R-Moline) and Rep. Richard Stengel (D-Rock Island), the principal sponsors, said the "use" tax would "close a loophole" and bring the state 30 million dollars more revenue a year.

Stengel said of the 27 states which have a sales tax, 22 have a use tax. A brief drawn up by the sponsors of the bill said the tax would have two principal effects:

1. Help protect the state's most important existing source of revenue, the sales tax.

2. Distribute the tax burden more equitably.

Most of the 19 Democrats and 15 Republicans behind the measure are from border counties, where Illinois businessmen say they are at a disadvantage because neighboring states have use taxes.

Persons living in states bordering on Illinois gain little advantage by trading here, because they must pay a use tax in their home states on property they take home.

But many Illinoisans save the 2 per cent Illinois sales tax by buying in border states. The use tax would assess 2 per cent tax against all such retail sales.

If you're going to buy an automatic washer, insist on: Proper installation, an actual home demonstration with your family laundry, an instruction booklet and
